Attention applicants holding Philippine passports: please see updated information on document verification process on page 2.

Civil Documents and Police Certificates from Philippines

Applicants who were born in the Philippines or carry passports issued by the Government of the Philippines require the following civil documents:

BIRTH CERTIFICATE – a certified birth certificate from the National Statistics Office (NSO) printed on NSO Security Paper. This is required for all applicants. Applicants with children should also submit a NSO birth certificate for all children, whether or not the child is applying for a visa. Applicants who need to obtain a certified copy of their birth certificate from the NSO can call the NSO Information Center at (63)(2)737-1111 or see the contact list at the end of this document.

MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE – applicants who are/were married in the Philippines must submit an NSO marriage certificate on security paper.

PROOF OF TERMINATION OF MARRIAGE – applicants who had a marriage annulled in the Philippines should submit an annulment certificate from the NSO on security paper. Please note that documents issued by a court must be accompanied by an NSO issued certificate to be accepted. If an applicant had a Philippine national spouse who died, even outside the Philippines, the applicant should submit a death certificate from the NSO on security paper. If an applicant was divorced in Hong Kong or another location, he/she should submit the original and final divorce decree (with English translation if applicable.)

NATIONAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION (NBI) CLEARANCE – applicants who have resided in the Philippines after age 16 must have a valid record clearance from the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI). Clearances should be in the applicant's current name, birth certificate name, maiden name, married name, and any aliases or nicknames ever used, including different spellings of all names ever used. An official letter of explanation from the NBI is required for any notation of "No criminal record", "No pending criminal case" or "With derogatory record." NBI is located along Taft Avenue in Manila. You may contact NBI at (632) 523-82-31 to 38. For immigration purposes, an NBI clearance is considered valid only for one year from the date it is issued.
